Martin William Haenke Collection

Size	15 boxes, approximately 280 plans
Contents	Correspondence, business records, architectural plans
Biography	Born in Walloon in 1875, the elder son of William Haenke, then a blacksmith, Martin William Haenke was articled to the Ipswich architect Henry E. Wyman in 1891. He later moved to Melbourne, where he was employed by architects Lloyd Tayler and Fitts before returning to practise in Queensland, in 1900. An early proponent of the Californian bungalow style in Queensland, Haenke was also successful as a building surveyor, colliery proprietor and industrial chemist. He died in Ipswich on 13 January 1952.
