Collection reflects interests and involvement in politics, agriculture, economics, economic policy, demography, public finance, international data, religion and ancient history. Correspondence includes letters to and from John Maynard Keynes and B.A. Santamaria. Collection also includes photocopies of papers in Colin Clark Collection, Brasenose College, Oxford.
Date range	1907 to 1986 (bulk of collection 1931 to 1986)
Biography	Colin Clark was born on 2 November 1905 in London. He was educated at Winchester College and Oxford and Cambridge Universities. He graduated first in chemistry and then in economics. He described himself as 'an academic economist with a considerable international reputation.' He was a prodigious author of economic texts, articles and papers. He was an economic adviser to various governments in the United Kingdom, India and Australia. From 1938 to 1953 he advised the Treasury Department of the Queensland Government. In 1978, he joined the Economics Department of the University of Queensland as a research consultant, where he remained for eleven years. His memory has been perpetuated in the annual Colin Clark Memorial Lecture at the University of Queensland.
